

Hugh Eagen

Feb. 1861 - Dec. 13, 1920

Hugh Eagen died at his home in Exeter December 13, after an illness of several months. All was done for him that medical aid could do, but God called him to that Heavenly home. He will be greatly missed in the home, where he has been a good husband and father, but he will also be missed in St. James church where he was always a willing worker. For many years he has held different town offices. and all those working with him know that he was always a faithful office holder, and had the town's best interest at heart.

The funeral was held Thursday at St. James church at 10:30. Interment was at St. James cemetery, north of town.
