

John Jones

1859 - Sept. 17, 1898

Killed in Stone Quarry

John Jones, generally known as Little Johnny Jones was killed in Jas. Bartlett's stone quarry at Attica last Saturday afternoon by a quantity of earth and stone falling upon him. He had been dead for some time when found, and from the nature of his injuries is thought that death was instantaneous.

Deceased was a mild mannered young man, well liked by all who knew him. He was 39 years old and unmarried. He came here from England some fourteen years ago and had no relatives here except the Meredith boys and Mrs. John Simmons, who were cousins to him.

E. P. Atherton, J. P., was called to hold an inquest, and a jury consisting of E. Q. Knapp, Bert Stein well, Lewis Cantle, Hans Lund, W. C. Ramsey and Ernest Gill rendered the following verdict: that John Jones came to his death in an accidental manner by the bank of the stone quarry situated on the farm of Joseph Bartlett in the town of Brooklyn, Green County, Wisconsin, caving in on him this 17th day of Sept., A. D. 1898

Buried in the Attica Cemetery.
