

Eugene W. Van Norman

Oct. 20, 1874 - April 3, 1965

Eugene W. Van Norman was born near Moscow, in Lafayette County, Wis., Oct. 20, 1874, a son of Michael F. and Katherine (Deam) Van Norman, who came to Wisconsin in the early pioneer days

Eugene W. Van Norman was reared at Middleton, Dane County, Wisconsin. His educational advantages were excellent, as his primary education in the common schools was supplemented by a course in high school from which he graduated in 1890, then entering the Wisconsin Academy at Madison, in which institution he took a two years course. This was followed by two years in the pharmaceutical department of the State University. In August, 1897, he came to Monticello, Green County, and bought out the drug business of E. J. Fischer, since which time he has been successfully engaged in that line. Mr. Van Norman has a neatly appointed store, carries a large stock of drugs, medicines, toilet articles, paints, and supplies usually found in the establishments of first-class druggists.

Mr. Van Norman is a member of the Green County Retail Druggists Association, also of the Wisconsin Pharmaceutical Association. He is personally popular, and during his sojourn at the university was president of his class, and also captain of the Baseball team. In politics he is a Republican, but does not force his views on any one, being peculiarly fitted for a business life by the possession of that tact which attracts all classes. His energy and ability are recognized, and the citizens of Monticello have complete confidence in him as a pharmacist.
