

OTTO LOVELAND DIES SUDDENLY
Well Known Resident of Washington Township
Passes Away Suddenly, From Pneumonia

Final rites for Otto Loveland, aged about 55, prominent Washington township farmer, whose sudden death after a brief illness from pneumonia occurred at about 7 o'clock Monday morning, March 10, 1930, in the Loveland home, were conducted yesterday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock in the home and at 2 o'clock in the Reformed church here.

The rites were conducted by Rev. A. Muehlmeier, pastor of the church. Interment was in Highland cemetery.

The sudden and unexpected passing of Mr. Loveland came as a shock to relatives and friends alike, many of whom were not aware that he had been ill. For several days he had been afflicted with a severe cold, but Saturday assisted with the chores for a short time. In the evening his condition took an abrupt change for the worse and pneumonia set in. Mr. Loveland was apparently holding his own satisfactorily early Monday morning and had just indulged in a light lunch when death overtook him a short time later.

Deep regret among his many friends and acquaintances has been occasioned by the death of Mr. Loveland who was well known as a man of many virtues. He was a very industrious citizen and years of hard toil had placed him among the most successful farmers in this community. Not only was he kindly considerate to members of his own family, but his willingness to assist in any worthy cause makes his passing a keen loss to the community. With Mrs. Loveland, he planned to move to the village this spring, a new and modern home being in the process of construction for them.

Otto Loveland, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Loveland, was born May 12, 1875 in Washington township where he spent his entire life. In his younger days, he attended the rural schools and also the Center church Sunday school.

He was married to Fannie Moritz on Nov. 22, 1900, by Rev. A. Muehlmeier, who conducted the funeral rites yesterday afternoon. For many years the couple resided on the old homestead farm, now conducted by their eldest son, Clarence. Some years ago he purchased the farm formerly owned by his brother, Henry Loveland, and had since reside. there.

Survivors besides the widow are two sons, Clarence W. and Frank, at home; his mother, Mrs. Maria Loveland, Monticello; two sisters, Mrs. Charles Lee, Shullsburg, and Mrs. Math. Klassy, Le Roy, Minn.; three brothers, W. A., Frank and Henry Loveland, all of Monticello; and two grandchildren, Merlyn and Lucille Loveland.
